MONEY FOR HIS VOTE,

Representative Lessler Was Offered, According to His Testimony.

RECITES NAMES AND PARTICULARS.

Examined at Length by the House Committee on Naval Affairs. Congressional Proceedings and Washington News.

Washington, Jan. 23.—The house committee on naval affairs began the investigation authorized by the house as a result of the statements made by Representative Lessler to the committee that he had been approached with an offer of money to influence his vote for an appropriation for the construction of torpedo boats. Chairman Foss announced the purpose of the meeting, reading the resolution adopted by the house. He first called Representative Lessler, who was sworn. Mr. Taylor of the committee questioned Mr. Lessler, who stated that he was opposed to the building of more submarine torpedo boats.

Mr. Lessler identified Philip Doblin and told of a conversation he said he had had with him. Mr. Lessler said Mr. Doblin came to him one morning and asked if the Holland submarine torpedo boat proposition would again come before the house. "I said I supposed so. He asked if I was still opposed to it and I said I was." Mr. Lessler testified that Mr. Doblin said he had been sent for by Mr. Quigg and Mr. Quigg had told him there was $5,000 in it if he (Lessler) could be brought to the other side. Mr. Lessler said there must be no further talk on that proposition. Mr. Lessler then said that Doblin suggested that Mr. Quigg was a man of power and influence and "that if I wanted to come back here, I would be aiding myself by doing him this favor."

Mr. Lessler then told of a conversation he said he had with Mr. Quigg at Lessler's office, Nassau street, New York. He then said that before the opening of congress, or during the holiday recess, Mr. Quigg telephoned that he wanted to see him: "I told him to come over and he came to my office within an hour."

Mr. Lessler said that he then told Mr. Quigg that there should be no question of money. In answer to questions he said Mr. Quigg had not mentioned torpedo boats, but added: "I had no other business with Mr. Quigg and inferred that it was on this account that he came to see me."

Mr. Lessler told of a conversation he had with John McCullagh, superintendent of elections in New York, at his hotel in Washington. Mr. McCullagh, he said, told him that there were men in New York who could re-elect him or defeat him and that they wanted him to support the measure. Mr. Lessler said he told Mr. McCullagh that he would not do it. Mr. Lessler said that at the time of the conversation with Doblin the latter was a deputy in Mr. McCullagh's office. He said that Doblin got some mail in his (Lessler's) office and had the freedom of his office. He said also that Doblin was an ardent and faithful political friend and he (Lessler) felt under obligations to him. He did not know, except through the newspapers, that Doblin had been ordered off the floor of the house at Albany.

Representative Lemuel E. Quigg, who was present from the opening, addressed the committee and said that in view of the fact that his name had been brought into this matter, would like to be heard at the earliest moment.

Senate and House.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Upon the conclusion of business in the senate Mr. Fairbanks referred to his previous notice that he would call up the immigration bill and said that he understood it would be agreeable to Mr. Quay. Mr. Quay explained his opposition in the matter by saying that he consented to the arrangement, believing there would be no debate upon the bill, but he had been informed that senators desired to discuss the bill and he felt bound to object. The statehood bill was then taken up.

Mr. Hoar sent to the desk and had read a letter addressed to him by Chairman Fowler of the house committee on banking and currency, referring to the currency bill reported by that committee and stating that "it has the approval and support of the president, the secretary of the treasury, the comptroller of the currency and the director of the mint." At Mr. Hoar's request the letter was expected to lie on the table. Although no comment was made, it is supposed that the letter had reference to remarks of Mr. Hoar a few days ago upon influence of executive departments upon legislation.

With the assistance of 28 Republicans the leaders of the house were defeated in the ballot upon the Philippine coinage measure. The representatives by vote of 146 to 128 rejected the Philippine coinage bill, reported by the insular affairs committee and adopted the substitute offered by the minority for the introduction of American currency and the American coinage system in the islands. The substitute as adopted provides that the lawful money of the United States shall be legal tender in the Philippines and declares the coinage laws of the United States shall be force there. It also provides for the redemption of the Mexican and Spanish silver now in circulation on the islands.

BOLD BANDITS

Held Responsible For the Wreck on the Illinois Central Road.

Memphis, Jan. 23.—The Illinois Central New Orleans special, Memphis for New Orleans, was derailed and badly wrecked by an open switch at a lumber company's sidetrack in the southern part of the city. Five of the seven coaches were derailed and overturned and the locomotive was badly smashed. Not a single passenger was injured and none of the train crew was killed outright, although the engineer and fireman are fatally injured and three other members of the train crew are seriously hurt. The fatally injured: Harry Norton, engineer, Memphis; John McDaniel, fireman, Water Valley, Miss. Seriously injured: J. P. Myrick, baggagemaster, Fulton, Ky.; Frank Ethridge, mail clerk; Reuben Davis, mail clerk.

The switch at the siding was open, although the switch lamp showed a clear track. It is believed that it was deliberately opened and the lamp set with the white light showing, by wreckers for the purpose of ditching the train. The engine collided with a cut of heavily loaded box cars on the side track and the entire forward section of the train left the track. The mail car was badly crushed and the combination buffet and baggage coach was cut squarely in half.

TRANSPORT DIX

Reported to Have Foundered Off Yokohama With All Hands.

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 23.—An unconfirmed rumor is current among shipping men to the effect that the transport Dix had gone down this side of Yokohama, with all on board. No details were given of the wreck, and it was impossible to locate any credible origin of the story. The Dix sailed from this port Dec. 31, bound for Manila, via Nagasaki, with a heavy cargo. Her load consisted of 3,500,000 feet of lumber and 998 tons of forage. Captain Hopkins was in command for the transport, with Captain Sternberg, United States army, in charge of the vessel. Major G. S. Bingham of the quartermaster's department stated that he had no word of the wreck. He stated that when he gave the sailing orders to the Dix it was to proceed direct to Nagasaki. The course to Nagasaki would bring the transport in the route of the Japanese steamers and it is possible that the report may come from this source.

A Terrible Experience.

Danbury, Conn., Jan. 23.—Samuel Edin of Brookfield spent seven hours of the night in a sluiceway containing five feet of water. Edin slipped while on his way home and fell over the edge of the sluiceway, six feet below. The sluiceway is constructed of boards, making a smooth wall impossible to climb. There was no means of escape, so the only course left to Edin to keep his blood in circulation was by moving about. He swam up and down, waded through the water and cried for help. His cries were heard and he was rescued. He is in a serious condition as a result of his terrible experience.

Littlefield's Anti-Trust Bill.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Representative Littlefield of Maine, chairman of the sub-committee of the house judiciary committee, to which all anti-trust bills were referred, reported to the full judiciary committee a bill which has been drawn and adopted by the sub-committee. Several weeks have been devoted to the preparation of the bill. The sub-committee considered some 25 or 30 measures. The bill is offered as a substitute for the publicity bill introduced by Representative Littlefield at the last session.

No Reception For King Ned.

Dublin, Jan. 23.—Timothy Harrington, M. P., was re-elected lord mayor of Dublin for the third successive time. The keenest interest was taken in the contest. How King Edward should be received by the corporation of Dublin in the event of a royal visit to this city was one of the issues of the campaign. Mr. Harrington opposed a reception of the king.

A broken rail wrecked a Chicago Great Western passenger train at South Freeport, Ills. Engineer and fireman were killed and 15 passengers injured.

ANNUITY TO COLOMBIA

Amount Fixed For the Right of Way For the Isthmian Canal.

UNCLE SAM TO HAVE FULL CONTROL.

Comprehensive Text of the Treaty Just Signed by Secretary of State Hay and the Colombian Representative.

Washington, Jan. 23.—The Panama canal treaty signed by Secretary Hay and Mr. Herran, the Colombian charge, is the same treaty that was drawn up by this government several months ago with the single exception of the item of annuity to be paid to Colombia for the use of the right of way for the canal. The amount of the annuity is a compromise between the $100,000 offered by Secretary Hay and the $550,000 demanded by Colombia. The latter's price was fixed upon what were asserted to be the present returns from the Panama Railroad company, port dues, etc., which she had no desire to see diminished. The amount fixed in the treaty by way of compromise, though not stated by the officials and persons who have had to do with the perfection of the treaty, is admitted to have been arrived at from a calculation of the exact receipts from traffic across the isthmus and therefore is regarded as only fair to Colombia. At the same time, though, the amount is larger than was at first offered. It is thought by officials that the senate undoubtedly will accept the figure named when it is made clear that to offer less would be to deprive Colombia of income she now is actually receiving.

All other points than this one of money compensation remain as they stood in the original draft of the treaty, and are completely satisfactory to the United States government. The United States will have control of the canal practically in perpetuity, as required by the Spooner act; this result having been attained by the adoption of a plan for a lease for 100 years, renewable at the pleasure of the United States, and Colombia having nothing to say about the extension. The matters of police and judicial control are settled by a scheme of joint action. Although it especially is assured that no citizen of the United States will be tried by any other than his own courts.

Control of the waters of the ports of Colon and Panama is vested in the United States just as far as may be necessary for the complete operation of the canal and it is assured that our extra territorial jurisdiction will be unquestioned as to waters and streams pertaining to the canal. All port dues on vessels passing the canal are to go to the United States by way of offset for the annuity payments.

Allies Aided the Rebels.

London, Jan. 23.—J. H. Scholberg, the Venezuelan representative here, referring to the report circulated in the United States that he is awaiting permission to publish information showing that Great Britain and Germany has been supporting General Matos in the latter's effort to overthrow President Castro, said that there were no new developments in the case. He was merely awaiting documents from Caracas to prove the reported assertions of the Venezuelan government that Great Britain and Germany has been assisting the Venezuelan revolutionists. These documents, it was added, are in the hands of Minister Bowen, as part of Venezuela's case.

Vessels Overdue.

Boston, Jan. 23.—Anxiety in view of heavy weather on the Atlantic, is being felt for some of the foreign steamers now on their way here with coal from British ports. The British steamer Farnham left the Tyne, Dec. 21, and was last reported off the Deal two days later. The British steamer Clematic sailed from Newcastle, England, Dec. 30, and the Hazelmere, also British, sailed from Shields the same day. The Exmoor left Cardiff Jan. 1, the Morocco left Hull Jan. 2, and six other steamers left coal ports on Jan. 3. None of them has yet been sighted.

Chief of Police Dietrich Dead.

Cincinnati, Jan. 23.—Colonel Philip Dietrich, superintendent of police, died Friday morning. He was born in Bavaria, Oct. 7, 1840. When quite young he came to the United States and entered the regular army, serving in Washington territory. He reenlisted when the civil war broke out in 1861 and served in the Army of the Potomac, and at the close of the war entered the police force of Cincinnati, with which he was almost continuously connected through the remainder of his life.

For the first time an order has been received at Minneapolis for flour to be shipped directly to the Philippines.

WOMEN TRAMPLED

In a Mad Rush of Men to Escape Fire In an Adjoining Building.

New York, Jan. 23.—Three women were killed and five women and one man severely injured in a panic in Leopold Miller & Sons' cigar factory on Crosby street, as a result of a fire in an adjoining building. The dead: Jennie Messino, 25 years; Fannie Kerstberg, 22; Mrs. Mary Sparbara, 25. The flames from the burning building beat against the walls of the cigar factory, causing a panic among the 500 men, women and boys at work. There was a wild rush for the fire escapes at the front and rear ends of the building, in which the weaker were crushed and trampled by the stronger. The men did not hesitate to push the women aside and when they reached the second story, instead of waiting for the ladders to be raised, pushed the women off to the ground, 15 feet, and leaped themselves. In this way many women were more or less injured. The worst scenes, however, were on the stairways, by which crowds of the panic-stricken employees tried to escape from the building. The men shrieked as if mad and knocking the women down, trampled them under foot. At the third story, there was a blockade and it had not been for the timely arrival of the police the death list would have been much longer.

SENTENCED TO DEATH.

Colonel Lynch, Who Fought With the Boers, Found Guilty of Treason.

London, Jan. 23.—Colonel Arthur Lynch, member of parliament and who fought with the Boers, was found guilty of treason and sentenced to death. The lord chief justice summed up very briefly. He said that if in wastime a British subject joined the king's enemies, whatever his purpose, he was guilty of an unlawful act. Naturalization during wartime afforded no excuse whatever for subsequent acts. There was abundant evidence, he said, of overt acts in aiding the king's enemies. The jury, after having been out half an hour, returned a verdict of guilty. When asked if he had anything to say as to why he should not be sentenced to death, Colonel Lynch replied: "Thank you, I will say nothing." The sentence of death was passed on each of the four counts in the indictment. The prisoner then bowed to the court and was removed in custody.

Although formally sentenced to be hanged, Lynch's sentence will no doubt be commuted.

Episcopals and Divorce

New York, Jan. 23.—Bishop Burgess of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Long Island, made an address at the annual dinner of the church club, in which he commended the attitude of the Roman Catholic church on the divorce question. The bishop said in part: "The Roman Catholic church has stood like a bulwark against divorce. It has stood for the inviolability of the marriage tie, and the unity of the home. Because of that it is in the world today one of the greatest forces for progress and Christianity. Our prayer book says one thing and that thing is all right; but our canons tell quite a different story. The great work of the Protestant Episcopal church is to harmonize prayer books and canons."

President of Reichstag Resigns.

Berlin, Jan. 23.—Count Von Ballaetrem has resigned the presidency of the reichstag in consequence of disapproval of his attitude during the attempt, Jan. 20, of Herr Vollmen, Socialist, to raise a debate in the house on the charges brought against the late Herr Krupp and on Emperor William's telegrams and speeches on the subject. The president at the time declined to permit the discussion on the ground that it was out of order to discuss a private person while debating the budget. His remarks called forth violent protests from the Socialists.

Missing Member Found.

Denver, Jan. 23.—W. H. Kelley, Democratic member of the house, who disappeared just before the convening of the joint session of the legislature, and whose absence broke the quorum and prevented the re-election of Senator Henry M. Teller, was located at his lodgings. Kelley promised to attend the joint session. He is editor of the Mancos Times and is representative from Montezuma and Delores counties. The Democratic members of the legislature will continue their efforts to elect a senator, but a quorum can only be mustered by securing the attendance of every Democratic member of both houses.

No Representations From Hay.

Berlin, Jan. 23.—A report of the bombardment of Fort San Carlos, Venezuela, was received at the navy department, but it is being communicated to the imperial chancellor before being published. The foreign office has not received any representations from Secretary Hay relative to the bombardment.

FORT WAS DESTROYED

Germany Receives an Official Report on the Shelling of San Carlos.

VENEZUELAN THE FIRST TO FIRE.

Blockade to Be Raised Only When the Guarantee Is Secured—Situation as Viewed at Home and Abroad.

Berlin, Jan. 23.—The official report of the bombardment of Fort San Carlos arrived in the shape of a dispatch from the commander of the Falke, dated Willemstad, Isle of Curacao, Jan. 22, saying he had received information from Maracaibo that Fort San Carlos had been shelled and set on fire by the Vineta and Panther and had ultimately been destroyed.

The Lokal Anzeiger says it has received information to the effect that Commodore Scheder reports that Fort San Carlos fired on the Panther first, as the cruiser was feeling her way into the inner harbor channel.

Washington, Jan. 23.—Notwithstanding the irritation felt in government circles at what is regarded as the purely needless and revengeful bombardment of the Venezuela forts by the German warships, the conclusion at the present time is that this incident will not prevent Mr. Bowen from successfully carrying out his mission of peace. The utterances of Count Von Buelow, in the German reichstag, are regarded here as conveying the intimation that the German warships are acting by direct orders from their home government with the purpose of avenging themselves for the repulse of the Panther in its first attack upon these forts. However this may be, the United States government cannot at this moment see any proper excuse for entering into this quarrel between Germany and Venezuela. It is again and emphatically stated that when the United States exercised its good offices to the extent of negotiations it exhausted its proper functions in that direction and could do no more. Mr. Bowen is again declared to be not the representative of the United States, but the Venezuelan, and the state department is very careful to preserve the appearance of independence on Mr. Bowen's part of declining to receive any reports from him or even encouraging his visits.

London, Jan. 23.—At the German embassy a representative of the newspaper press was informed that no explanation had been received there of the bombardment of Fort San Carlos, and it could only be assumed that there was good and sufficient cause for it. It was suggested that judgment be suspended until full particulars were received. The British and German governments, it was added, were acting in perfect harmony and quite agreed that the blockade could not be raised until a satisfactory guarantee had been offered by President Castro. When Minister Bowen went to Washington it was thought he was the bearer of such a guarantee, but it has turned out that he only had President Castro's promise to pay, which had previously proved unsatisfactory. If Mr. Bowen could secure some other guarantee the blockade would be raised; but negotiations to this end are not likely to advance until the arrival of Baron Speck Von Sternberg, the German charge d'affaires, in Washington.

Shelling of the Fort

Maracaibo, Jan. 23.—Fort San Carlos was again bombarded by the German cruiser Vineta, Panther and Falke. It is estimated the German ships fired more than 1,600 shells. The first shells were hurled at long range. Later the Panther, being of light draught, closed in and again became actively engaged. The fort replied, and soon the second engagement was proceeding as fiercely as the first. Twelve dead and 15 badly wounded Venezuelan soldiers were counted in the fort. It is reported the fort was destroyed, the bombardment setting the garrison on fire.

Settlement In Sight.

Berlin, Jan. 23.—In the reichstag Foreign Secretary Von Rietzchen expressed the hope that the Venezuelan difficulties would soon be settled. He said the negotiations at Washington, it is hoped, will show an early result rendering it possible to raise the blockade. So long as the blockade exists, however, respect for it must be enforced. The action against Maracaibo was undertaken for this purpose.

YOUTSEY'S STORY.

Not Wrung From Him by Torture, But Was Made Voluntarily.

Enquirer Says He Has Simply Confirmed What Has Heretofore Been Told.

Charles Finley, one of the Republican suspects who fled the State shortly after the assassination of Gov. Goebel, is out in a card to the press trying to discount Henry Youtsey's testimony before the grand jury at Frankfort, claiming that it was wrung from the prisoner by torture and persecution. Finley's object is very apparent, but he has tried that game too often.

When seen at the State prison Thursday by press representatives and informed of what Mr. Finley had said, Youtsey replied:

"Mr. Finley is mistaken; any persecution would have the effect of driving in rather than bringing out this matter. I have received neither the best nor the worst of it since I have been in the prison. I have never been promised either pardon or commutation of sentence for telling what I know."

In a letter some days ago to his father-in-law, Judge C. S. French, of Winchester, Youtsey said:

"I am voluntarily, freely, fully and frankly telling all that I know in connection with the assassination of William Goebel."

The Enquirer Friday contained a lengthy dispatch from Frankfort about Youtsey's story, probably obtained from "inside" information, but the article is carefully worded so as not to give its informant away. It prefaces the story by the statement that when Youtsey's testimony is given to the world it will come in the shape of corroboration of that which has been told in the columns of the Enquirer from time to time during the past three years, though in a more connected form and embracing the details of the whole foul plot as they are remembered by the convicted and now self-confessed conspirator. In summing up the story the Enquirer correspondent says Youtsey states when it was apparent that the Democrats were to be successful it was decided to resort to what he and his fellows termed heroic measures.

He told how, when it was apparent that Henry Berry, the Republican member of the House of Representatives from Fayette County, would be unseated, a conference was held, at which it was the unanimous expression of opinion that if Van Meter took the seat all hope of Taylor's retention of the gubernatorial chair would be lost, since this would give the Democrats a majority in the General Assembly. He told how it was then decided that steps for the prevention of this occurrence by bloodshed should be taken, and it was agreed that a great number of men should be selected in the mountains and in other parts of the State and brought to Frankfort for the purpose of murdering enough members of the Legislature to prevent the Democrats from securing a majority and afterwards holding the buildings and offices against any forces that the Democrats might be able to muster. He named the persons who were at that conference, among them Caleb and John L. Powers, Wm. Culton, Wharton Golden, Charles Finley, Dr. Johnson and himself.

He recounted the visits of Culton, Finley and Powers to the mountains for the procurement of the men, of the mobilizing and arming of the body at Frankfort on Jan. 25th, of the prevalence of the counsel of wiser heads against any such step as that proposed, of the turning of the body into an alleged mass meeting of citizens coming to demand their rights at the door of the Capitol, of the resolutions promulgated and signed by Stephen G. Sharp, now United States Marshal, of the return to their homes of the majority of these men and the retention of a selected few by Powers, Culton and Finley to go into the lobby of the Legislature and at a given signal on the call of the speaker for a rising vote to shoot certain of the Democrats when the men of that political persuasion should stand up, and of the failure of this through the weakening of the man selected to give the signal.

He told of another conference at which it was decided that inasmuch as Van Meter had taken his seat, the death of Goebel was necessary before the decision of the Contest Board to prevent his succession to the Governorship, and to make secure, as they presumed, the retention of the office by Taylor.

He says that it was first suggested to poison whisky and send it to Goebel, Blackburn, Beckham, Hendricks and a score of other prominent Democrats who were then occupying rooms in the Capital Hotel. Youtsey says that this was abandoned for the reason that it was agreed that there was an element of uncertainty of its reaching Goebel, who might decline to drink it. He said it was suggested that the Capital Hotel be dynamited in the night, but this was abandoned for the reason that there was a chance for the escape of Goebel, and for the further reason Embroideries.....

Nainsooks, Cambrics, Swisses are the foundations. And they are fine—not uneven, not coarse, not loaded or sized with starch. These are matched sets, including full and demi-full flouncings, allover, edgings and insertings in all widths, beadings, galloons and motifs that may be separated. There are delicate effects in tuckings and French embroidery plain or combined with lace. There are elaborate designs in demi-flouncings for skirt ruffles and corset covers both in blind and open-work effects. St. Gall hand-run shuttles do all the work. Margins are wide, scallops are button-holed and deep, strong and cut out. The same patterns running through several widths are appreciated by women of fastidious taste. Prices mean little apart from the goods. Come here and SEE what values you can get in edges and insertings for 5c., 10c., 15c. In allovers for 50c., 75c. In elaborate edges, beadings and insertings for 19c., 25c., 35c. In very fine allovers for $1, $1.25, $1.50.

D. HUNT & SON

that some relatives of the conspirators were occupying rooms in the house, and it was not decided that they should be killed.

It was finally agreed to procure the death of Goebel singly, and shooting was decided upon as the method. Then there followed much argument as to the time and place, and many suggestions were made as to the selection of a man who would be unfailing in his aim and nerved enough to do the deed unflinchingly.

The negro Hockersmith was the first choice. He was approached on the subject, and expressed a willingness to commit the crime, but it was decided that he was an unsafe person. Then it was that Jim Howard was chosen. He had killed George Baker in Clay County, was known to be as true of aim as any man in Kentucky, and was believed to possess the requisite nerve, in fact, every necessary quality. He had been seeking a pardon for his crime in the mountains, and it was believed that if promised the desired pardon and assured immunity from punishment in the event of detection after the many precautions which they would take for the prevention of a disclosure of the author of the death, he would agree without hesitation to perpetrate the deed.

These plans and the agreement as to Howard, Youtsey said, were submitted to Taylor, and that he sanctioned them and authorized him to write a letter to Howard instructing him to come to Frankfort and call upon him (Youtsey) immediately upon his arrival.

Howard came to Frankfort at once and reported to Youtsey, who said he advised Taylor of Howard's presence in the Executive Building and his willingness to kill Goebel for the recompense agreed upon.

He said that Taylor told him to tell Howard to go ahead, and that he led Howard into Powers' office as agreed with Powers and Finley that he should do, and that he indicated to him the three loaded rifles which he (Youtsey) had placed in a corner of the room; that Howard picked them up, weighed them in his hands carefully, glanced along the barrel and down the sight of each, and finally selected the Marlin rifle which he had procured from Grant Roberts and loaded with a steel bullet cartridge from the quantity which he had had shipped to him from an establishment in Cincinnati; that Howard took from his pockets two pistols and placed them upon the sill of the window over which the curtain was drawn and from which it had been decided that he should fire the shot as Goebel walked up from the street to the Capitol Building; that when he asked him his purpose in placing the pistols there he replied: "I intend that they shall think there are three or four men in this room; that he was on the point of leaving the room when the shot was fired; that he did not see Howard pull the trigger, and that on hearing the shot he ran down to the basement of the building and around to Taylor's office by way of the steps at the opposite side.

Such in brief is Youtsey's version of the assassination of Governor Goebel. He fails to name outright the man who fired the fatal shot. He maintains the assumption that there was both plotting and conspiracy. He extenuates his own

WRECK ON C. AND O.

Eastbound Flyer Friday Afternoon Collided With Westbound F. F. V. at Limeville.

A disastrous wreck was narrowly averted on the C. and O. Friday afternoon at Limeville, Greenup County.

No. 5, the westbound F. F. V., due in Maysville at 3:25, had orders to sidetrack at that point for No. 2, the eastbound F. F. V. Before No. 5 had gotten entirely on the siding, No. 2 rounded the curve and before it could be stopped, ran into some of the rear coaches, derailing them.

According to the information at hand, the passengers all escaped without serious injury. Engineer Snedcor of No. 2 had one of his hips dislocated, and this was the most serious injury sustained by anyone. It was 11 o'clock last night before No. 5 passed down.

Mr. Henry Thompson was taken worse Friday.

HERE'S A POINTER!

A Proposition to Farmers That Would Tickle the "Original Rib."

We are pleased to announce that notwithstanding the recent advance in wire goods, our prices on AMERICAN FIELD FENCE will remain the same for a FEW DAYS. A purchase of five car-loads late in the Fall enables us to continue the old quotations for a short time only. PRICES ARE GOING HIGHER and we would not be surprised at any time to receive advices of a further advance. Our present figures are much lower than we can promise to name a month hence and are subject to withdrawal without notice. Farmers would do well to anticipate future needs and buy while we are in position to make this offer.

Will Haul to Maysville.
[Flemingsburg Times-Democrat.]

We hear it reported that Chas. Laferty, the tie man, will haul his several thousand railroad ties to Maysville to ship them to Richmond, Ind., and will then sue the L. and N. R. R. for the difference it costs between that route and the rate given him by the company at the time he bought the timber and which the L. and N. afterward went back on.

"The Belle of New York."

An early date here will be the famous musical comedy, "The Belle of New York." During its long run of over two years in London it is said a theatre party witnessed the performance of "The Belle" fifty-seven times. The libretto, lyrics and music are said to be by far the best ever written. It will appear at Washington Opera House Friday, January 30th.

"The Missouri Girl" comes to Washington Opera House Wednesday, January 28th. Sadie and Fred Raymond are at the head of an exceedingly strong company. The specialties are all new. A most elaborate production is promised. Seats go on sale Tuesday morning at Nelson's.
